

Observation period for parking enforcement.

April 2022

Before issuing a penalty charge notice, civil enforcement officers are required to observe a vehicle in order to establish specific activities. For example in a resident only bay an observation period is required to check if loading and unloading is taking place. If it is a PCN would not be issued as loading and unloading is allowed in a resident bay without a permit for as long as necessary.

Some observations are required to be continuous, in which case the enforcement officer cannot leave the vehicle and have to observe it for the total time specified; whereas other observations can be casual where an enforcement officer can make a note of the vehicle in contravention and come back later and if still in contravention may then issue a penalty charge notice.

Below are a list of contraventions, their observation times and if this is to be continuous or casual
